It is understood that there is at least one building upon the Builders' Exchange in Richmond for Manchester. There are believed to be more.

The building on which the contractors are now making estimates is believed to be the mammoth warehouse for B. D. Chalkley & Co., leather and hide dealers, of Richmond. This new warehouse will be located not many blocks from the Stephen Putney & Co. and W. S. Donnan & Co. warehouses, on west Eighth street.

The Manchester Commissioners of Election met, as customary, yesterday and canvassed the vote cast on Tuesday. It was the same as published in the Dispatch of Wednesday. The city gives Captain Lamb a plurality of 339 votes.

INTERESTING CASES HEARD.

One Involves a Case of House-Burn ing; the Other a Large Fortune. Two cases of unusual interest were argued in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday.

The court convened at 10 o'clock, with Judges Simonton, Paul, and Waddill pre-first case was No. 282-Wil- the whole world. Ham Eaton, appellant, vs. State of West Virginia, appellee. Appeal from Circuit Court of West Virginia, at Wheeling. Cause argued by W. W. Arnett for appellant and by John A. Howard and Frank W. Neshitt for appellee and sub-Frank W. Nesbitt for appellee, and sub-

It is claimed that Eaton set fire to property owned by him in Wheeling, W. Va., in order to get the money for which it was insured. He was subsequently arwas insured. He was subsequently ar-rested on this charge, in Chicago, Ill., and he claims that he was taken back to West Virginia without being allowed to raise points concerning his extradition in the courts. He contends that he could not rightly be extradited because he was not in West Virginia when the fire occur-red, and, therefore, he was not a fugitive from justice. Eaton was taken to West Virginia and indicted. His appeal to the courts was not sustained in that State and he has appealed to this tribunal. The State of West Virginia claims that while Eaton was not in West Virginia when the fire occurred, he, in setting fire to his house, used a slow fuse, which he ap-plied in the daytime, and which gave him time to make his escape over the State line before the fire broke out.

INVOLVING A LARGE ESTATE. The second case, which was argued at he afternoon sitting, employed very eminent counsel on both sides. The cause is No. 25—Anne L. Vrooman et als, appel-lants, vs. William H. Grafflin et al., ap-pellees. Appeal from Circuit Court of Maryland. Cause argued by S. S. Field and William Pinkney Whyte for appellants and by Frank Gosnell and T. W. Anahan for appellees, and submitted.

The argument brought out the following facts: George W. Grafflin died about two years ago, leaving an estate valued at over a million dollars, to be divided.

The following Richmonders were regulatered in New York yesterday: R. A. Lancaster, Fifth Avenue; A. B. Briggs, Marlborough; St. George M. Anderson and wife, Holland; F. Lucien and wife, Imperial; J. GENEVA, November 19.-Luigi Lucche ni, the Italian anarchist, was convicted to-day of killing the Empress Elizabeth of Austria, on September 10th last, in this city. He was sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for life, the full penalty alowed by the Swiss law.

Luccheni admitted that he came to Geeva in order to kill the Duke of Orleans; but, he added, he arrived too late. The prisoner then remarked that in spite of this the Duke of Orleans would be killed within a year.

The prisoner also said that if he had possessed 50 francs on the morning of the assassination, instead of killing the Empress of Austria, he would have started for Italy, with the intention of killing King Humbert. He added: "It does not matter, however, as another will kill Humbert shortly."

When sentence was imposed, Lucchenl laughed, and cried loudly: "Long live anarchy," and "Death to the aristocracy," GLORIES IN HIS CRIME.

A curious feature of the trial was that henever anything was said tending how that he had attempted to deny his ruilt, or to escape its consequence invariably interrupted, apparently glory-ing in the crime, which, he said, was pre-meditated, adding in one instance, 'I did ny utmost to make the stroke fatal." MASO TO M'KINLEY.

Problem of Establishing a Stable Government in Cuba.

WASHINGTON, November 10 .- A letter from President Maso, of the Cuban Proisional Government, to President McKiney, became accessible to-day. It is dated at Santa Cruz del Sur, September 23d, and deals with the governmental problems which now confront the American and Cuban people in Cuba.

President Maso says that with the syacuation of the island by the Spanish will commence the arduous and difficult task of establishing in Cuba a firm and stable government, which shall be the legitimate expression of the free will of the people, and shall constitute a real guarantee of the peace and liberty which, the Cubans so ardently wish for."

SUSTAINS AMERICAN POLICY. President Maso says that the logic of vents imposed an agreement between Americans and Cubans as to the ends to be accomplished and that "the complex abor with which we have been and are still engaged is about realized, and the governor of the council, as the supreme autholty of the revolution, has inspired all its acts, in the aim of sustaining and siding the policy of the American gov-

President Maso then reviews the ac tions of the Cuban revolutionary party, and indicates the steps that are to be taken by the Cuban people to bring to fruition the hopes which have inspired them through years of strife for free-dom. He adds: "We will stand by those men who have sacrificed everything for elfare of their country, and we are WE SHOULD GARRISON THE ISLAND

He concedes that the American Gov-ernment should garrison the island in order to ensure tranquility during the period of transition from Spanish to Cuban rule, and that "the natural develop ment of events will necessarily about a practical understanding between the American Government and the per ple of Cuba upon a common basis.

THE SEARCHING WIND.

How Its Hunt for Weak Spots in the Body May Be Baffled.

What makes pneumonia? The usual answer is-cold and damp. It is wrong. These are but developing agents, bringing out pre-existing weakness, which, with care and prudence might have been corrected, so that the cold and wet would be annoyances merely, not dangers. This be annoyances merely, not dangers. This is the time of year when the searching wind finds where the body is weak and lung trouble, always a thing to be dreaded, is the frequent result.
